

Primary Geography Network Meeting

Spring 24-25

The primary geography networks are a great opportunity to speak with other geography subject leaders in your area, keep up-to-date with the latest geography news and gain great ideas to take back to your geography classroom.

With: Emma Groves, Primary Adviser for Geography, HIAS

The agenda:

This spring network will focus on how to create cross-curricular opportunities for the core subjects within your geography provision, including:

- How to practise reading and writing skills in geography lessons.
- How to support struggling readers and writers in primary geography.
- Making links to maths and science through geography fieldwork.
- Using text drivers and class readers to support geographical understanding.

The network will also discuss how to provide challenge opportunities for your most able geographers and what teaching for mastery in primary geography might look like.

For more information on the network please email Emma Groves emma.groves@hants.gov.uk.
